STUDENT PROFILE

Name: Kirsty Tugwood

Course: Animal Behaviour and Welfare BSc

What Kirsty says about her course:

"I gained key practical skills at college and they helped organise my voluntary work at London Aquarium and Cornish Seal Sanctuary, which ultimately started my career. Merrist Wood College helped me to pursue my dreams and make them a reality."

RESOURCES

The brand new Animal Management Centre includes a desert room, a tropical room and a nocturnal room to house a wider variety of species and enable them to be studied and cared for in a more natural environment.

STUDENT LIFE

Guildford is one of the country's foremost locations for living, shopping, entertainment, commerce and industry, and London is only 40 minutes away by train.

VOCATIONAL FOCUS

The degree level courses are vocationally-focused, combined with underpinning business knowledge and incorporate opportunities for industry-related work experience. You'll gain first-hand experience in a range of working environments related to your chosen career.
